

Graphic Design: The New Kid Collective

The New Kid Collective is a non-profit creative collective that does pro bono work for local non-profits. The identity came from the feeling that students experience when they first enter the creative industry, a similar feeling students experience when entering a new school; the feeling of being a “new kid.”