Entry Name: A Connecticut River Garden
Category: Editorial
Client: Connecticut Cottages & Gardens

This stunning garden located in Lyme, Connecticut, was photographed while on assignment for Connecticut's preeminent shelter publication, Connecticut Cottages & Gardens. This garden was a little different than the many others I have photographed. While the landscape designer, Drew Kenny, created the formal garden using trees, flowers and other plantings, Cathy Kincaid, the interior designer, "decorated" those outdoor spaces to create inviting sitting areas and charming vignettes, adding another dimension to this already vibrant landscape.

I photographed this garden at sunup over the course of two mornings, taking my time to revel in its quiet beauty which I believe is reflected in these images.
