

Some food just doesn't work at work.

Like a giant meat smoker in the office. Or a heavy machinery factory that becomes a sushi conveyor belt at lunchtime. Or a vending machine that sells live lobsters. Or fluorescent orange-dusted cheese balls in a furniture store.

There are lots of wrong ways to feed your workplace. In fact, every way that isn't ezCater is wrong.

Because some food just doesn't work at work.
But ezCater just does.
