

Ready to Foster TV

Part of a broader campaign targeting Latino families, convincing them to foster children in their community by showing them they are ideal for it because they have strong family bonds and a broader definition of family.