

With the acquisition of three boutique corporate banking and investment firms, Citizens wanted to highlight its expanded depth of capabilities while also conveying the notion that this growth wouldn't change their partnership-like approach to business relationships, current customers expect. Using squares that reflect the brand's daisy wheel or benefits-focused language, we showed how service and services can come together so that clients are "Ready to Rise."