

Ask Me Anything

Part of a new program called Breaking Barriers that strives to improve relations between new drivers and police officers. We put them in a room together and let them ask anything. It was enlightening to see the conversation go both ways. The video is shown to all new drivers in CT as part of their licensing procedure at the DMV.