Higher Chance

Part of a broader “Driving High Equals DUI” campaign, these billboards relayed the simple statistical fact that, if you drive high, you are more likely to crash or get arrested. This is still new news to a lot of people. So we keep it simple and keep, keep, keep on repeating it. Simply.